

had disappeared. Burdick and his daughter, Marion, were in her room about 7:30. Mrs. Burdick talked about the message from Mrs. Burdick. She did not see Burdick again that night, but heard him talking with his daughter, whom he kissed good night and went down stairs. She did not leave her room again that night after putting the children to bed about 8:30. She got up the next morning at her usual hour, 7:30, without being called. The Murray girl called to her that the front door was open, and the kitchen window was open, and that she had called to Mr. Burdick and got no answer.

Mrs. Hull averred that she heard no voices after she went to bed; she did not hear the Murray girl come in, or hear the bell ring. When she went to the den, she said she opened the door a little way, and called, "Ed, Ed, Ed." She saw something on the couch. It was dark in there. She saw the Murray girl in the hall, and said: "Maggie, I fear that something has happened. I don't dare go in there, do you? What are we to do? Then I said we had better send for Dr. Marcy."

"Why didn't you go into the den that morning?"

"I was too nervous."

"What did you think?"

"I did not know what had happened. I thought perhaps it was Ed on the couch."

"But you had seen him sleeping before. Why were you afraid to see him sleeping?"

"If he had been sleeping my screams would have awakened him. I was afraid of finding him dead in there. Of course, I did not know it was there."

"Then you did scream?"

"Yes, as loudly as I could. It did not arouse him, and I was frightened."

"You had no reason for expecting to find him dead in there?"

"No; except that he did not respond to my screams."

SHOWN THE PHOTOGRAPHS.

Previous to Dr. Marcy's arrival Mrs. Hull said she had just stepped over the threshold and looked in. At this point Mr. Coatsworth handed Mrs. Hull a photograph of the den with the body of the murdered man lying on the couch covered as Dr. Marcy found it covered.

Mrs. Hull took the photograph without so much as a tremble of her hands, and looked at it intently and calmly. Then she discussed the picture, and pointed out the familiar objects in the den.

Mr. Coatsworth's examination was conducted all through with evident purpose of breaking down the witness. He kept the photograph before her for many minutes.

"Does this photograph represent the den as you saw it that morning?" asked Mr. Coatsworth.

"I do not remember."

"The body on the couch was covered as this photograph shows?"

"I think so."

Mr. Coatsworth then showed the witness a photograph of the den taken after the covering had been removed from the body. It showed the body of the murdered man on the couch with the battered and bloody head. Mrs. Hull took the photograph from Mr. Coatsworth and looked at it. Her hands trembled a trifle.

"Is that the way the den looked after Dr. Marcy got there?" asked Mr. Coatsworth.

"I never saw the room after he got there," replied Mrs. Hull, looking the District Attorney squarely in the eye.

HAD NOT TALKED.

Continuing, the witness said she had never asked, and had never been told of the details of the tragedy. She denied having said that she thought she knew some one who might have done it. She had had no conversation on the subject, except with the officials. She had never told Burdick that he was as much to blame as his wife.

"But you thought he was?"

"I do not know that I did."

"Then you thought that your daughter was more to blame?"

"I certainly thought she was imprudent. I thought if he had done differently, she would have."

Witness said she and Burdick had never quarreled.

Mrs. Hull smiled faintly as she left the stand. She was supported by her lawyer as she left the court-room, but she did not appear to be in need of any assistance.

Maggie Murray, the cook at the Burdick home, was the next witness. She detailed her movements as previously published, as to seeing Burdick in his undreathes and afterwards hearing some one working at the furnace. She heard no further noise in the house that night. She contradicted Mrs. Hull's story of what transpired on the morning of the murder. She said she went to Mrs. Hull's bedroom and told her about the door and window being open. She swore positively that she did not call to Mrs. Hull from the first floor. She also contradicted Mrs. Hull, who had testified that she did not look over the balcony. She said she, and not Mrs. Hull, suggested that Dr. Marcy be called. She knew of no one who held any animosity toward Burdick.

ROBBERS AT ROANOKE

Private Residences and Norfolk and Western Offices Entered.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ROANOKE, VA., March 14.—Two more robberies of homes took place last night, the thief entering the rooms where people were sleeping and taking their clothing out into the yard. The people robbed were Tipton C. McDonald and Robert Wignore. The thief effected an entrance by cutting the window blinds.

The body of Albert Baker, the Syrian found dead in Richmond Thursday morning, was brought here to-day. The funeral will take place at the Jefferson Street Baptist Church to-morrow afternoon, conducted by Rev. O. S. Smith.

The officials of the auditor's department of the Norfolk and Western general office are much exercised over some thief rifling the desks in the office.

DEVOTED TO LEE CAMP.

The employees of the Randolph Paper Box Factory will attend in a body and seats will be reserved for them. Lee Camp, among whose members none of a body, besides sending the special detail. Probably the chief love of Major Randolph's life, outside of his family attachments, was his devotion to Lee Camp. He breathed his last as the camp was beginning its regular session but a few squares away.

While his comrades were answering the evening roll-call one of the most beloved of their number answered "Here" at another meeting of Confederate soldiers, where Lee and Jackson and Stuart and a great host of others whom the ones who soldier had loved and followed also answered "Here."

Lee Camp has been called to meet at 3:15 at the hall, all members to wear their gray and to march from the hall to the cathedral. The veterans of the Home will attend in a body and seats will be reserved for them. The Daughters of the Confederacy have resolved to attend as an organization, and all members are requested to meet at 3:15 at the Cathedral. The Junior Hollywood Association will also meet at the same time and place to enter the church together.

VERY SIMPLE SERVICE.

The service will be simply the ritual of the Catholic Church on such occasions. Bishop Van de Vyver will not make an address. The interment will be made in the Randolph section in Shockoe Cemetery. After the brief committal service, also conducted by Bishop Van de Vyver, a salute will be fired by the Howitzers.

The business organizations with which Major Randolph was most closely identified met and adopted fitting resolutions of regret, expressing also the high esteem they had for Major Randolph as a business man and gentleman. The directors of the Old Dominion Building and Loan Association, which deceased was vice president, met at noon. This is the first occasion on which the directors of the association have ever met for a similar purpose.

DIRECTORS MET.

At 12:30 the directors of the Virginia State Insurance Company, of which Major Randolph was president for ten years or more, convened, and the splendid tribute printed elsewhere in these columns was read the late president. At the same time the directors of the German-American Banking and Building Company met and suitable resolutions were presented and adopted. The Daughters of the Confederacy held a special meeting also yesterday, and after many expressions of appreciation of the worth of Major Randolph and sympathy for Mrs. Randolph and the family, resolutions were adopted.

Mrs. J. Taylor Edlyson requested the regents of the Confederate Museum to meet at the Cathedral at 3:45 to attend the service.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a meeting of the Directors of the German American Banking and Building Company, held at the Company's office, March 14th, 1908, the following resolutions were adopted:

The Board of Directors of the German American Banking and Building Company, convened in special session because of the death of the late President, Major Norman V. Randolph, desire to place upon the records of this company their tribute of respect to his memory, both as the presiding officer of the company and as a man.

By constant business and social relations each member of the Board became attached to him in no small degree; his death, therefore, resulting in a personal sorrow to each of us.

The success of this institution is a tribute to his business sagacity and foresight, and in the transactions for the company his counsels will be sadly missed.

It is resolved that this expression of sorrow be spread upon the minutes of the company and published, and that a copy be forwarded to his widow and family.

CHARLES K. WILLIAMS, Secretary and Treasurer.

Daughters Take Action.

At a called meeting of the Richmond Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, held in Lee Camp Hall, March 14th, at 11 o'clock, Mrs. Walter Christian presiding. It was resolved, First, That in the death of Major N. V. Randolph the Richmond Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy have lost a true and sympathetic friend, a loyal and devoted southerner, one to whom the only appeal needed was "I am a Confederate," and whose loss to our beloved cause, our nation's work, is irreparable.

Second, That this chapter desire not only to express our loss of the friend who ever stood ready to give his time, his means and his heart's sympathy to us in our work, but to express to our beloved president, his wife and his members of his family, our deep and loving sympathy. These are no vain words, for the heart of every Daughter goes out to our president, for he has not only the love of sympathy with each Daughter who suffered, and who is comforted with each who rejoiced, and so wound herself around our hearts?

Resolved, Third, That the chapter attend the funeral in a body, and a committee of four ladies follow the Daughters last resting place, and that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the chapter and a copy be sent to the family.

Mrs. A. D. CARR.

Mrs. J. T. ELLISON, Chairman.

Mrs. KATH V. WYNN, Secretary.

Mrs. EDGAR TAYLOR, Miss SALLIE DEANE, Sallie C. Deane, Corresponding Secretary, R. C. Y. D. U. D. C.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Virginia State Insurance Company, held at the company's office, Saturday, March 14th, 1908, at noon, the following resolutions were adopted:

It is with no ordinary feeling that the members of the Board of Directors of the Virginia State Insurance Company have been convened to express their sincere grief at the loss sustained by them, the company and the community in the death of their late faithful and efficient President, Major Norman V. Randolph.

Major Randolph was a man of many striking, if not indeed, remarkable characteristics. He had the deepest convictions of his duty; of what was right and of what was wrong. In the affairs of life he was very apt to decide right, and having reached such a conclusion, there was no power that could sway him one iota from the path of duty as he saw it.

At the same time he was open to persuasion and counsel; but unless changed by these, he could and would utilize all of his energies and strong personality in the execution of his generally just and wise judgments. He was indeed a positive character in the truest sense, and therefore a sincere and loyal friend and exemplary and public-spirited citizen.

He was very successful in upbuilding and developing the business of the company; wise and judicious in the management of its affairs; and his Board will not only miss his counsel in the future, but the members record their sincere sorrow at the personal loss they and each of them have sustained in his death. Therefore, be it Resolved, First, That in the death of our late President and friend, Major Norman V. Randolph, the Board recognizes the loss of a useful and efficient officer, an exemplary and public-spirited citizen, and a valuable member of society in the community in which he lived; whilst at the same time each member of the Board will miss and mourn him as a genial, loyal and devoted friend and companion.

Second, That these resolutions be spread on our minutes and published, and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased, with the assurance of our sincere sympathies in this, their and our common bereavement.

ROBERT LICKY, JR., Sec.

OBITUARY.

Charles H. Vaughan.

Mr. Charles H. Vaughan died at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his residence, No. 41 North Eighth Street, aged thirty years. Mr. Vaughan's illness was a short one. He went to the Bijou Friday night and was apparently in excellent health. He was taken ill with a bowel trouble about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and all efforts of physicians to relieve him were unavailing.

Mr. Vaughan was chief operator in the train dispatcher's office of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad. He was a native of Petersburg, but had lived with his mother in this city about four years. His uncle, Mr. Spencer Vaughan, of Petersburg, was informed of his death by wire, and came at once to Richmond.

The remains of Mr. Vaughan will be taken to Petersburg and interred in Blandford Cemetery.

H. B. Grubbs.

Mr. Henry B. Grubbs, who died early Friday morning, was a member of Carter's Battery, and served with distinction until wounded by the bursting of an enemy's shell near his gun, during one of its many engagements, and his right leg had to be amputated.

Soon after the war, Mr. Grubbs commenced business as a Second Market. He was polite and beloved by all who came in contact with him. His ward honored him by electing him to the office of magistrate for several terms. He was a magistrate at the time of his death.

He leaves a wife and three sons and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

He was a consistent member of South Street Christian Church, from which his funeral will take place at 3 P. M. to-day.

Infants Dead.

Mildred E. infant daughter of T. Wells Terry and the late Hettie Terry died at the residence of her father, No. 1600 Ashland Street. The funeral took place yesterday and the interment was made in Riverview Cemetery.

Fulton, infant daughter of B. F. and Mary C. Mann, died Friday at the residence of her parents, No. 405 Nicholson Street. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence.

Funeral of Mrs. Moesta.

The funeral of Mrs. H. W. Moesta took place yesterday afternoon from the Bethlehem Evangelical Lutheran Church. The interment was made in Hollywood.

The pallbearers were as follows: The pallbearers—Messrs. Robert Whitte, Sr., H. P. Taylor, Jr., Christopher Hanes, W. M. Moncre, Jacob Feltig, Charles Stephan, Fr. Martin and C. D. Wingfield.

Active—August Helzer, August Harvey, Hugo Goepfert, James Whitte, Emil Feltig, Hermann Raabe, Hugh P. Powell, and Adam Feltig.

Captain John J. Broyles.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ABINGDON, VA., March 14.—Captain John J. Broyles, founder of the Planters Hotel and later one of the founders and proprietors of the Hattie House, in West Abingdon, died this morning, aged seventy-five years and nine months. He was born Lynchburg, where in 1830 he married Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Jones. In 1833 he moved to Abingdon, where in company with Charles Jones he soon became noted as one of the popular hotel men of the State. During the early portion of the war he was a quartermaster under Colonel King. For about four years he has been entirely blind. He leaves a wife, but no children. He was long and extensively known as the head of one of the noted old time hostilities of the South-west.

James C. Kellam.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FRANKTOWN, VA., March 14.—James C. Kellam, a prominent farmer and successful business man, who, by order of his physicians, has been spending some time in the South for recuperation, attempted to return home, and was so feeble that it was thought best he should lay over at St. Vincent's Hospital in Norfolk, where he died on the evening of the 11th inst. Mr. Kellam was attended by his wife, his brother and brothers-in-law. The remains were brought home on the 12th and buried from Franktown Methodist Church to-day at noon.

Walter P. Bryant.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WARSAW, VA., March 14.—The death of Mr. Walter P. Bryant, of Litalton, Lancaster county, was a great shock to his many friends. Mr. Bryant, who for the past four years has filled the position as clerk in the store of Mr. L. T. Rock, attended a social at night at the home of Mr. Harry Robertson, about five miles distant, and returned to the store about 11 o'clock and immediately retired. This morning at about 6:30 o'clock, Mr. Rock found him in an unconscious condition on a floor of his bedroom, with blood flowing from his nose. A doctor was hastily summoned, but no relief could be given, and he died within half hour's time from what the physicians pronounced brain trouble.

Thos. E. Drinker.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

KING GEORGE, VA., March 14.—Thomas E. Drinker, aged sixty-eight, died at his home near here yesterday. He was a native of Petersburg, and at the outbreak of the war was residing in the State of Texas, where he called on the Confederate army and lost an arm in service. He was for several years assistant engineer at the State Capitol. He married Miss Marion Washington, of this county, who, with one son, survives him.

Walter Jones.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

OAK HILL, VA., March 14.—Walter Jones, a well-known citizen of New Kent, died at his home this morning at 8 o'clock, aged sixty-four years. He was a gallant Confederate soldier and served through the war in the Third Virginia Cavalry. He is survived by seven children: Mr. Annie Neal, Misses Mazie and Louise Jones.

Mrs. Thomas Buckley.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., March 14.—The remains of Mrs. Thomas Buckley, who died in Washington last night, will take place from St. George's Episcopal Church to-morrow, and the interment made in the City Cemetery. The deceased was forty-one years old and is survived by her husband, two children, three brothers and one sister. The brothers are Captain W. A. Smith and Mr. E. J. Smith, of this city; Mr. Allen Smith, of King George, and the sister, Mrs. H. B. Turner, of King George.

W. Robinson Taylor, Jr.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., March 14.—News was received here to-day of the death last night at the home in Thomasville, South Carolina, of Mr. W. Robinson Taylor, Jr., son of the late W. Robinson Taylor, of King George county, aged forty-five years. He is survived by his wife and two children.

Owen W. House.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

LAWRENCEVILLE, VA., March 14.—Owen W. House died at the residence of his father, W. J. House, yesterday morning after a short illness of typhoid pneumonia. He was in his twenty-first year. He was in the employment of the Southern Railway Company. He is survived by his father, one brother and four sisters.

Mrs. Nannie Baynes.

Mrs. Nannie Elliott Baynes, wife of John V. Baynes, of Ruffin, N. C., died at her home Friday morning, March 13, in her sixty-fourth year. She is survived by her husband and four children—Mrs. Stewart Carter, Miss Mollie and A. T. Baynes, of North Carolina, and E. L. Baynes, of this city.

Mrs. Clara E. Smith.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., March 14.—Mrs. Clara E. Smith, wife of Burton G. Smith, died at her residence in Graydon Avenue, after a lingering illness, this morning at 12:30 o'clock. The remains will be taken to Africa, Ind., over the Chesapeake and Ohio to-morrow morning, and the funeral will take place there on Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Hickerson.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., March 14.—Mrs. Mary Hickerson, a well-known lady of Stafford county, widow of the late W. L. Hickerson, died at her home near Stafford Store, in Stafford county, aged seventy-three years. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lucy Bridwell.

W. R. Taylor.

A telegram last night announced the death in South Carolina of Mr. W. R. Taylor, formerly of Comom, King George county.

Mr. Taylor was here at St. Luke's Hospital. He left a short time ago to join his wife in South Carolina. He was a nephew of Mrs. Charles Golden, of this city.

Hugh H. Williams.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SUFFOLK, VA., March 13.—Hugh H. Williams, a leading citizen of Nansemond county, died at 8 o'clock to-night, near Providence Forge, aged fifty-five years. He is survived by a widow, three children and five sisters, one of whom is the wife of Hurricane Branch. His son, Leonard, was a Lieutenant in the Spanish war.

A. S. Vaiden.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., March 14.—A. S. Vaiden, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Dinwiddie county, died about midnight last night at his home at Ford's Depot. Mr. Vaiden suffered a second stroke of paralysis a few days ago, which caused his death.

Colonel James A. Webster.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

SOUTH BOSTON, VA., March 14.—Colonel James A. Webster, aged eighty-five, died this evening. He was on the street this morning. He died while sitting in a chair. No one was in the room. He was both a Mason and Odd-Fellow.

My spring goods are now on exhibition for this season. I shall be glad to have my customers and the public to call and examine them. It is a pleasure to show them. P. COLAVITA, No. 202 North Fifth Street.

nearby so badly used up, but a car loaded with flour, just in rear of the tender, had the latter forced upon it so as to wreck it considerably.

On the local engine at the time were W. G. Moore, engineer; J. N. Purvis, fireman; Clarence Glass, yard conductor; Littleton Moon, brakeman, and William McSherry. The latter was not a member of the crew, but was riding from his home in Sandy Hook to his work at the Glamorgan Pipe and Foundry Company.

THE WOUNDED CARED FOR.

As soon as the employees of the Plow Works realized what had happened telephone calls were made for Dr. John Walker, the company's physician, who soon arrived with Dr. Pauliet Clark, Messrs. Arthur Funtun, O. S. Driskill, Phillips and Taylor of the Plow Works, then began to aid the wounded. They found Engineer Monroe on the side track, having been thrown from his cab, about twenty feet ahead of his engine, with some heavy iron on his body. They then removed and carried him to the wood shop, where it was ascertained that he had sustained several cuts about his leg and head. After giving him temporary surgical aid he was removed to the Home and Retrait.

William McSherry was found in the canal by these rescuers, and had they not promptly gone to his relief he would soon have been drowned. One leg was cut off and the other was terribly crushed. He was carried to the paint shop, where the doctors attended him. Walter Glass was also thrown a considerable distance, being found on the bank of the canal at the foot of one of the supports of the overhead bridge and by the side of the front part of the local engine. He also had injuries similar to those of McSherry, having one leg cut off and the other being badly crushed, besides a deep wound in his side.

Glass and McSherry died in the afternoon at the Home and Retrait.

While the wounded men were being attended to, willing hands were at work on the wrecked engine, where the bodies of Fireman Purvis and Brakeman Moon were being burned and scalded in close proximity to the furnace of the engine. The remains were blackened almost beyond recognition when found; they were then covered over with blankets placed on a stretcher and taken to the shipping house across the canal, and later were carried to the undertaking establishment.

Farmville Herald.—The city fathers of Richmond have sworn that they will not walk nor pay to ride. The free ticket system dies hard.

AMUSEMENTS.

APRIL 15TH

CONFEDERATE BAZAAR

Remember the Date

BOSTOCK'S

GREAT ANIMAL ARENA

THE REIGNING SENSATION

And Trysting Place of All Amusement Lovers.

DAILY AT 2 AND 7 P. M. ADMISSION 25c.; CHILDREN, 15c.

Sundays, Exhibition of Animals Only.

CONFEDERATE BAZAAR BENEFIT

Thursday Afternoon Next.

GRAND BEAUTY CONTEST.

Silver Cups for the Prettiest Girl and Handsomest Boy. Got in Line.

Engines CRASH AT LYNCHBURG

(Continued From First Page.)

As soon as the employees of the Plow Works realized what had happened telephone calls were made for Dr. John Walker, the company's physician, who soon arrived with Dr. Pauliet Clark, Messrs. Arthur Funtun, O. S. Driskill, Phillips and Taylor of the Plow Works, then began to aid the wounded. They found Engineer Monroe on the side track, having been thrown from his cab, about twenty feet ahead of his engine, with some heavy iron on his body. They then removed and carried him to the wood shop, where it was ascertained that he had sustained several cuts about his leg and head. After giving him temporary surgical aid he was removed to the Home and Retrait.

William McSherry was found in the canal by these rescuers, and had they not promptly gone to his relief he would soon have been drowned. One leg was cut off and the other was terribly crushed. He was carried to the paint shop, where the doctors attended him. Walter Glass was also thrown a considerable distance, being found on the bank of the canal at the foot of one of the supports of the overhead bridge and by the side of the front part of the local engine. He also had injuries similar to those of McSherry, having one leg cut off and the other being badly crushed, besides a deep wound in his side.

Glass and McSherry died in the afternoon at the Home and Retrait.

While the wounded men were being attended to, willing hands were at work on the wrecked engine, where the bodies of Fireman Purvis and Brakeman Moon were being burned and scalded in close proximity to the furnace of the engine. The remains were blackened almost beyond recognition when found; they were then covered over with blankets placed on a stretcher and taken to the shipping house across the canal, and later were carried to the undertaking establishment.

Farmville Herald.—The city fathers of Richmond have sworn that they will not walk nor pay to ride. The free ticket system dies hard.

Engines CRASH AT LYNCHBURG

(Continued From First Page.)

As soon as the employees of the Plow Works realized what had happened telephone calls were made for Dr. John Walker, the company's physician, who soon arrived with Dr. Pauliet Clark, Messrs. Arthur Funtun, O. S. Driskill, Phillips and Taylor of the Plow Works, then began to aid the wounded. They found Engineer Monroe on the side track, having been thrown from his cab, about twenty feet ahead of his engine, with some heavy iron on his body. They then removed and carried him to the wood shop, where it was ascertained that he had sustained several cuts about his leg and head. After giving him temporary surgical aid he was removed to the Home and Retrait.

William McSherry was found in the canal by these rescuers, and had they not promptly gone to his relief he would soon have been drowned. One leg was cut off and the other was terribly crushed. He was carried to the paint shop, where the doctors attended him. Walter Glass was also thrown a considerable distance, being found on the bank of the canal at the foot of one of the supports of the overhead bridge and by the side of the front part of the local engine. He also had injuries similar to those of McSherry, having one leg cut off and the other being badly crushed, besides a deep wound in his side.

Glass and McSherry died in the afternoon at the Home and Retrait.

While the wounded men were being attended to, willing hands were at work on the wrecked engine, where the bodies of Fireman Purvis and Brakeman Moon were being burned and scalded in close proximity to the furnace of the engine. The remains were blackened almost beyond recognition when found; they were then covered over with blankets placed on a stretcher and taken to the shipping house across the canal, and later were carried to the undertaking establishment.

Farmville Herald.—The city fathers of Richmond have sworn that they will not walk nor pay to ride. The free ticket system dies hard.

Engines CRASH AT LYNCHBURG

(Continued From First Page.)

As soon as the employees of the Plow Works realized what had happened telephone calls were made for Dr. John Walker, the company's physician, who soon arrived with Dr. Pauliet Clark, Messrs. Arthur Funtun, O. S. Driskill, Phillips and Taylor of the Plow Works, then began to aid the wounded. They found Engineer Monroe on the side track, having been thrown from his cab, about twenty feet ahead of his engine, with some heavy iron on his body. They then removed and carried him to the wood shop, where it was ascertained that he had sustained several cuts about his leg and head. After giving him temporary surgical aid he was removed to the Home and Retrait.

William McSherry was found in the canal by these rescuers, and had they not promptly gone to his relief he would soon have been drowned. One leg was cut off and the other was terribly crushed. He was carried to the paint shop, where the doctors attended him. Walter Glass was also thrown a considerable distance, being found on the bank of the canal at the foot of one of the supports of the overhead bridge and by the side of the front part of the local engine. He also had injuries similar to those of McSherry, having one leg cut off and the other being badly crushed, besides a deep wound in his side.

Glass and McSherry died in the afternoon at the Home and Retrait.

While the wounded men were being attended to, willing hands were at work on the wrecked engine, where the bodies of Fireman Purvis and Brakeman Moon were being burned and scalded in close proximity to the furnace of the engine. The remains were blackened almost beyond recognition when found; they were then covered over with blankets placed on a stretcher and taken to the shipping house across the canal, and later were carried to the undertaking establishment.

Farmville Herald.—The city fathers of Richmond have sworn that they will not walk nor pay to ride. The free ticket system dies hard.

Engines CRASH AT LYNCHBURG

(Continued From First Page.)

As soon as the employees of the Plow Works realized what had happened telephone calls were made for Dr. John Walker, the company's physician, who soon arrived with Dr. Pauliet Clark, Messrs. Arthur Funtun, O. S. Driskill, Phillips and Taylor of the Plow Works, then began to aid the wounded. They found Engineer Monroe on the side track, having been thrown from his cab, about twenty feet ahead of his engine, with some heavy iron on his body. They then removed and carried him to the wood shop, where it was ascertained that he had sustained several cuts about his leg and head. After giving him temporary surgical aid he was removed to the Home and Retrait.

William McSherry was found in the canal by these rescuers, and had they not promptly gone to his relief he would soon have been drowned. One leg was cut off and the other was terribly crushed. He was carried to the paint shop, where the doctors attended him. Walter Glass was also thrown a considerable distance, being found on the bank of the canal at the foot of one of the supports of the overhead bridge and by the side of the front part of the local engine. He also had injuries similar to those of McSherry, having one leg cut off and the other being badly crushed, besides a deep wound in his side.

Glass and McSherry died in the afternoon at the Home and Retrait.

</